Custodian OF A LEGACY

Words JACQUELINE WM WONG Images INFORMATION DEPARTMENT BRUNEI

The Brunei Vision 2035 is the country's aspiration to ensure that Brunei Darussalam not only possesses educated, highly skilled and accomplished people; but also has a high quality of life and a dynamic and sustainable economy.

In 2007, His Majesty highlighted the challenges Brunei will face and announced that the solution to overcome these challenges is through the national vision – Brunei Vision 2035. The Brunei Vision 2035 also represents His Majesty's Government's commitment on the priorities and development needed for its youth.

His Majesty has always believed that the youth are a vital resource for the country's future development. In His Majesty's titah in conjunction with the 35th National Day Celebration the monarch said, "Youth have shown achievements in entrepreneurship, economic and social fields ... at the same time, government agencies must not lag behind providing infrastructure and supporting the youth, especially guiding those involved in entrepreneurship."

His Majesty has placed a lot of emphasis on youth-focused policies since the implementation of the Brunei Vision 2035. One of the priorities of the Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports (MCYS) for the youth is the 4K strategies and programmes to be involved in national development.

His Majesty listening to a student from the Rimba Arab School in conjunction with a visit on 29 January, 2019. His Majesty stated: "In terms of student recruitment, it differs from other schools because it is through the criteria of a selection test and only those who are successful will be admitted, while those who do not meet the mark will follow the usual acceptance into public schools. This provides Arab schools an advantage, in terms of learning as the curriculum comprises more subjects than a regular public school."

A monarch who deeply cares for his subjects, His Majesty continues to underline the central role to be played by youths in the progress of Brunei's tomorrow. The Brunei Vision 2035 stressed the need to have an educated, highly skilled and accomplished people to provide market-ready talents as Brunei meets the requirements of its changing economy.

His Majesty's compassion and commitment to improving the lives of young people is reflected in many of the monarch's titahs. In Sydney last year, His Majesty again urged all students to use the opportunity provided by the government, not only for higher education but also to strengthen their values and self-identity. His Majesty also expressed hope for the young generation to be bolder in facing challenges, saying: "They need to come forward, give ideas and make efforts towards national development."

In a country with a considerably young population, His Majesty has put a lot of emphasis on the youth-focused policies since announcing Brunei Vision 2035 to help young

His Majesty, who is also the Chancellor of Universiti Brunei Darussalam (UBD), arriving at the University's 30th Convocation Ceremony held on 29 August, 2018. The UBD continues to climb up the Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) Asian University Rankings. UBD has moved up five places from 2017 stated in the annual report, placing it among the top 100 in Asia. UBD maintains its place in the top one per cent of universities in the region.

His Majesty commended the institution for its flexibility in terms of pace, place and pathway, cutting-edge education and research that will contribute to effective economic development in a tith during UBD's 30th Convocation Ceremony. The university emphasises on sophisticated 21st century skills in education and research encouraging academicians and graduates to collaborate with the public and private sectors in building the nation through a knowledge-based economy.

06
His Majesty during the celebrations to mark Brunei Darussalam's 34th National Day on 23 February, 2018. It was on 1 January, 1984 Brunei achieved its sovereignty. On the joyous day, His Majesty stated: "We want to ensure that we continue to modernise our country as well as strengthen our faith in the principles of Islamic teachings that we have been following ... We are confident of the successes because of the guidance of our father, His Royal Highness Begawan Sultan General Haji Sir Omar 'Ali Saifuddien Sa'adul Khairi Waddien, the 28th Sultan of Brunei Darussalam and the 'Architect of Modern Brunei'."

Brunei Vision 2035 stresses the need to have an educated, highly skilled and accomplished people to provide market-ready talents as Brunei meets the landscape of the ever-changing economy. Brunei's education attainment had received recognition from the Sustainable Trade Index 2018. According to the survey results, Brunei is one of the countries recording marked improvements.

people lead the Sultanate to a better future. His Majesty has pioneered efforts by holding consultations to open up the economy to the world and encourage foreign direct investment (FDI) to the country, and encourage local entrepreneurs to grab business opportunities and expand their operations overseas. His Majesty also highlighted on the impact of the Fourth Industrial Revolution (4IR) and Bruneians' readiness in facing it.

His Majesty's continuous dialogue with the youths has resulted in a better learning environment. In a titah delivered during a meet-and-greet ceremony with Brunei citizens and residents in Malaysia on 5 March, 2019, His Majesty said that a total of 67 students under the Educational Loan Assistance has graduated from higher institutions in Malaysia. His Majesty advised all students to equip themselves with the knowledge and skills, in addition to gaining knowledge through experience and books as well as by emulating successful people.

His Majesty called on the youths to reinforce their resolve in serving the country with emphasis on strong patriotic values while highlighting these admirable traits in a titah at the passing out parade ceremony for the 8th intake of the National Service Programme (PKBN) at the PKBN Training Camp in Kampong Batu Apoi, Temburong District on 14 March, 2019.

The opening of a 500-hectare commercial rice field in Belait district last December 2018, for example, is a manifestation of His Majesty's vision to invest in the youth towards agriculture. "Agriculture is a field that determines our survival as an independent nation. That is why there should not be any more excuses in developing the agriculture sector. Anyone can venture into farming," said His Majesty in his titah at the Opening Ceremony of the Knowledge Convention last year.

His Majesty has always regarded the youths as the nation's true asset. As the monarch continues to instruct the government and the various agencies to devise an integrated strategy to harness the potential of young people to accelerate development, His Majesty is also steering the nation towards further economic prosperity.

Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia bertitah bahawa sekolah Arab adalah tonggak pendidikan duniawi dan ukhrawi yang tulen ketika berkenan berangkat mengadakan lawatan ke Sekolah Arab Rimba pada 29 Januari, 2019. "Dari segi pengambilan penuntut sahaja, ia berbeza dengan cara pengambilan di sekolah lain kerana ia melalui ujian pemilihan dan hanya mereka yang berjaya sahaja akan diterima masuk sementara yang tidak berjaya akan mengikut kelaziman biasa diterima masuk ke sekolah umum tanpa sebarang ujian. Ini saja pun telah meletakkan sekolah Arab mempunyai kelebihan, lain lagi dari segi pembelajaran, di mana sekolah Arab mengajarkan lebih banyak subjek dari sekolah-sekolah biasa."

Wawasan Brunei 2035 merupakan aspirasi Negara untuk memastikan Negara Brunei Darussalam dikenali sebagai sebuah negara yang mempunyai rakyat yang berpendidikan, berkemahiran tinggi dan berjaya; tetapi juga mempunyai kualiti kehidupan yang tinggi dan ekonomi yang dinamik dan berdaya tahan.

Pada tahun 2007, Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia menekankan cabaran-cabaran yang bakal dihadapi dan mengumumkan bahawa penyelesaian untuk mengatasi cabaran ini adalah melalui wawasan negara yang dikenali sebagai Wawasan Brunei 2035. Wawasan Brunei 2035 juga merupakan komitmen Kerajaan Baginda terhadap keutamaan dan pembangunan yang diperlukan untuk belia negara.

Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia sentiasa percaya bahawa generasi belia adalah sumber yang penting bagi pembangunan masa depan negara. Dalam titah Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia sempena Sambutan Hari Kebangsaan Ke-35, Baginda bertitah, "Para belia telah menunjukkan pencapaian yang menggalakkan di bidang keusahawanan, ekonomi dan kemasyarakatan ... serentak itu, agensi Kerajaan juga tidak ketinggalan dalam menyediakan prasarana serta membantu para belia, khususnya dalam memberikan bimbingan kepada mereka yang berkecimpung di bidang keusahawanan."

Sebagai seorang sultan yang menghargai rakyat Baginda, Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia terus menggariskan peranan utama yang akan dimainkan oleh para belia dalam perkembangan masa depan Negara Brunei Darussalam. Wawasan Brunei 2035 menegaskan keperluan warganegara yang berpendidikan, kemahiran tinggi dan berjaya untuk menyediakan sebuah pasaran bakat sedia ada bagi Negara Brunei Darussalam memenuhi keperluan ekonomi yang giat berkembang.

KDYMM sentiasa menegaskan bahawa golongan belia merupakan aset kepada pertumbuhan sebuah negara dan sumbangan mereka adalah penting untuk mencapai Wawasan Brunei 2035, iaitu rakyat berpendidikan, berkemahiran tinggi dan berjaya; kualiti kehidupan rakyat dan ekonomi yang dinamik dan berdaya tahan.

03

KDYMM sentiasa menganggap para belia sebagai aset negara yang sebenar. Matlamat Dasar Belia Negara ialah "Mewujudkan Belia Brunei Cemerlang". Dasar ini juga terletak pada pemahaman bahawa golongan belia mempunyai keistimewaan yang diberikan oleh negara dan tanggungjawab yang negara mengharapkan mereka melaksanakannya.

Belas kasihan dan komitmen Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia untuk memajukan kehidupan golongan muda digambarkan dalam kebanyakan titah Baginda. Di Sydney pada tahun lalu, Baginda sekali lagi menggesa semua pelajar supaya menggunakan peluang yang disediakan oleh Kerajaan, bukan sahaja untuk meneruskan pendidikan tinggi tetapi untuk mengukuhkan nilai dan identiti diri mereka. Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia juga menyuarakan harapan Baginda agar generasi muda menjadi lebih berani dalam menghadapi cabaran dengan bertitah, "Mereka perlu tampil ke depan dan berikan idea, serta berusaha ke arah pembangunan negara."

Sebagai salah sebuah negara yang mempunyai populasi belia yang tinggi, Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia telah memberi banyak penekanan kepada dasar yang diketengahkan oleh para belia sejak Baginda mengumumkan Wawasan Brunei 2035 dan untuk membantu golongan belia menjadi pemimpin yang akan membawa negara ke arah masa depan yang lebih maju. Baginda telah merintis usaha dengan mengadakan konsultasi untuk membuka ekonomi negara dan menggalakkan pelaburan langsung asing (FDI).

Dialog berterusan Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia dengan para belia telah menghasilkan persekitaran pembelajaran yang lebih baik. Baginda bertitah semasa Majlis Bersama Rakyat dan Penduduk Negara Brunei Darussalam yang berada di Malaysia pada 5 Mac, 2019 bahawa terdapat seramai 67 orang pelajar di bawah Skim Bantuan Pinjaman Pendidikan yang telah tamat pengajian di institusi-institusi pengajian tinggi di Malaysia. Baginda juga menasihatkan, "...semua pelajar yang belajar di luar negara, supaya merebut setiap peluang bagi melengkapkan diri masing-masing dengan ilmu dan kemahiran, untuk dibawa pulang ke tanah air apabila tiba masanya nanti."

ITB dinaik taraf menjadi sebuah universiti pada 18 Oktober, 2008. Namanya ditukar menjadi Universiti Teknologi Brunei (UTB) pada 1 Mac 2016. UTB menduduki tangga ke-57 bagi Young Global University di bawah 50 tahun, kedudukan 165 di Asia dan 442 di dunia. Ini merupakan salah satu pencapaian terbesar UTB kerana hanya berusia 10 tahun.

Pelancaran lapangan padi komersial 500 hektar di Belait pada bulan Disember 2018, contohnya, adalah manifestasi visi KDYMM untuk melabur dalam golongan belia ke arah bidang pertanian. "Pertanian merupakan bidang yang menentukan kelangsungan hidup kita sebagai sebuah negara merdeka. Sebab itu tiada alasan untuk kita masih memperlakukan langkah ke arah membangunkan sektor pertanian. Pertanian perlu diceburi oleh siapa saja," bertitah Baginda di Majlis Perasmian Majlis Ilmu pada tahun lepas.

Kebawah Duli Yang Maha Mulia sentiasa menganggap para belia adalah sumber penting bagi negara. Baginda terus menekankan kepentingan Kerajaan dan agensi-agensi berkepentingan untuk merangka strategi bersepadu untuk memanfaatkan potensi golongan belia untuk membantu dalam pembangunan negara. Baginda juga dengan secara langsung memimpin negara ke arah pembangunan ekonomi negara. 🏹

A little known fact about Melbourne is that it is one of the top four jewellery centres of the world in terms of makers. Creative hub Fitzroy is where many of them live and work. Marion Marshall Studios specialises in chunky gold and silversmithing with precious and semi-precious stones. Studio Ingot sells artist-made jewellery as well as offering custom made commissions. Many other local jewellery designers can be found at Fitzroy's Rose Street Market every weekend.

FASHION

Armadale

Elegant High Street Armadale has become synonymous with Melbourne fashion designers. Names along the hip strip include Scanlon Theodore, Thurley and Lisa Barron.

New brands entering the competitive Melbourne scene tend to flock to the fashion forward precinct including Rebecca Vallance, who originally hails from Melbourne, opening her new flagship boutique in Armadale. Look out for stores that feature chic shoes for men and women, on-trend athletic gear or beautiful hand-crafted leather bags, pouches, clutches and accessories, with some stores offering the option to add personalised embellishments and monogramming. The neighbourhood is also well-renowned for its collection of elegant bridal boutiques and bridal service stores with brides-to-be travelling from far and wide to shop at the Armadale strip in preparation for the big day.

MULTI- CULTURALISM

Footscray

Melbourne's western suburb has long been a working-class suburb and cultural melting pot, and is now slowly gentrifying into a hipster hot spot. The buzzing inner suburb balances the rich cultural history of international food stores, restaurants and markets, alongside modern and cool new eateries, cafes and shops. The famous Footscray Market is a Melbourne institution, with eager shoppers flocking Tuesday through Saturday to purchase fresh produce ranging from fruit and vegetables, meats, poultry, seafood and exotic Asian produce. Dining options in the heart of Footscray is more diverse than ever, with mainstay Vietnamese and African restaurants, including Afghan kebab shops and Ethiopian eateries such as Konjo Café. Smørrebrød: a sandwich of Scandinavian sensibilities.

Words SIMIANNE SKAARUP
Images COPENHAGEN MEDIA CENTER

Bread is a very important part of the Scandinavian table. Based primarily on rugbrød, this sourdough rye bread is a dark, heavy bread that forms the basis of smørrebrød (pronounced smuhr-broht), the Danish open-faced sandwich. Smørrebrød dates back to the 19th century when, for many agricultural workers, lunch was the main meal of the day. It began when bread was used to wipe the plates clean of any remaining food; eventually the food was placed on the bread instead as topping.

Smørrebrød (literally “butter bread”), is a daily staple for many Danes, and a truly classic taste of the nation's traditional cuisine. Considered a great way to use any leftovers in the fridge, smørrebrød can have an almost limitless number of different toppings. More recently, this nation's traditional cuisine has been given a revival and become a trendy lunch, especially for young Danes today. While toppings can include anything from herring to raw beef to seafood and egg, the basics of making a great smørrebrød is four: rye bread, fats, Danish ingredients and savoury. And, making this unlike any other ordinary sandwich, smørrebrød is arranged with more detailed texture and contrast making it both pleasing to both the tastebud and the eye!

To make a smørrebrød, begin with Danish-style rye bread. This is a denser bread that tastes slightly malty with a sweet and sour tang, packed with seeds and cracked whole grains. The bread is primed with butter, animal fat or any other type of rich spread that helps prevent it from getting soggy once the toppings are added. The main ingredients are typical of the region, such as herring (pickled or fermented), boiled eggs and small shrimp. Thin slices of meats are also used as well as cheeses. The smørrebrød is then garnished with toppings that unify the whole experience. Think something with a crunch or a bit of sauce such as crunchy pickles, raw onion rings and watercress or mayonnaise mixed with peas.

Smørrebrød is eaten with utensils and, when sampling a smørrebrød, it is custom to begin with the herring, followed by seafood, then meats and finish off with cheese. It is not just about the Danish etiquette: eating in this sequence, with the acidic herring first, helps prime the tastebuds for the richer meats to follow. While there are hundreds of combinations and varieties of smørrebrød, they all share a common attribute – ingredients that reflect Scandinavian sensibilities of simple, honest and local.

For those wishing to taste a truly unique Danish food experience, the best time is at lunch when the unique smørrebrød is served. Smørrebrød has become very popular in the recent years, especially among young people as several restaurants and takeaways have reinvented the classic Danish lunch. Restaurant Schønnemann on Hauser Plads is a popular place for smørrebrød, which offers classic Danish lunch and vegetarian-friendly options. The restaurant, dating back to 1877, bakes its own rye bread, and there is still sand on the floor like there was in the 1800's. Another great restaurant that has been around for a decade is Slotskælderen hos Gitte Kik, across from the Danish parliament building. Needless to say, this is popular with Danish politicians. Restaurant Ida Davidsen, next to Amalienborg Palace, has the world's longest menu according to the Guinness Book of Records, and includes many classic and innovative varieties of smørrebrød. Some are named after famous Danes, such as Victor Borge (smoked salmon, shrimp, crayfish and lumpfish roe). For herring lovers, head to Nyhavn to find Nyhavns Færgetro housed in the 17th century classic Danish building along the waterfront. Specialties include mustard-cured herring, 'rullemons' and pickled herrings coated in rye. Everything is prepared according to tradition from fresh spring or autumn herring.

OF ISLAMIC HERITAGE & PRESERVATION

Bandar Seri Begawan proclaimed as Capital of Islamic Culture for the Asian Region 2019.

Images BRUNEI MINISTRY OF CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORTS

Brunei Darussalam is reputed to be the most ancient of Malay states in the Southeast Asian region. Since the first ruler of Brunei Darussalam, Awang Alak Betatar (Sultan Muhammad Shah), Islam has played, and still plays, a very central role in the history of the Sultanate. Its dynamic and ancient history, coupled with centuries-old practices of Malay culture, traditions, language, arts, crafts and an Islam-centric way of life, is today preserved and enshrined in the Sultanate's national philosophy known as the Malay Islamic Monarchy, known in Malay as "Melayu Islam Beraja" (MIB).

Bandar Seri Begawan abounds with some of Southeast Asia's most iconic architecture, collections of historical artefacts and cultural landmarks. Alongside the steadfast Islamic leadership of His Majesty the Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam, Brunei's MIB philosophy, its rich history and way of life in accordance to the concept of "Negara Zikir" (A Nation In Prayer), Brunei was recently chosen as Capital of Islamic Culture for the Asian Region, an initiative by the Islamic Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (ISESCO). With this honour, Bandar Seri Begawan now joins a long list of other cities in Africa, Middle East and Asia recognised by ISESCO annually since 2005 for enriching the culture of their regions.

The Capitals of Islamic Culture programme was inceptioned through an Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) resolution in 2002. The main criterion for selection is outstanding contribution to both Islamic and universal culture, confirmed through the scientific, cultural, literary and artistic works of scholars. Makkah, Saudi Arabia was named the first capital for ISESCO's inaugural programme that today continues in its aim to foster cultural enrichment, encourage dialogue between states and build global bridges. And, in tune with the resolution of the 10th Islamic Conference of Culture Ministers, ISESCO proclaimed 2019 as the year of heritage in the Islamic world.

Kicking off the year-long activities to celebrate its selection, an exhibition called the "Trail of Islamic Architecture" was launched in January at the Arrival Hall, Brunei International Airport. The exhibition showcased an illustration of Brunei's Islamic leadership, way of life and history as well as the architectures and monuments of Islamic arts and designs in Bandar Seri Begawan as well as calligraphy works was displayed for a month to the Jaguar's all-electric I-PACE is a car that will make others notice.

CHARGING AHEAD

Clean, smart and offering a wealth of driver assistance features, the Jaguar I-PACE delivers sports car performance, artificial intelligence (AI) enabled technologies and five-seat SUV practicality.

Designed and engineered in the UK, the I-PACE joins the growing family of Jaguar SUVs, alongside the all-new E-PACE and multiple award-winning F-PACE. "We set out with a clean sheet approach to harness new battery electric technology with an architecture engineered from the outset to optimize EV performance, aerodynamics and interior space. The result is the I-PACE – a true Jaguar and a truly driver-focused EV," said Ian Hoban, Jaguar Vehicle Line Director.

With a 432 pouch cell, 90kWh, lithium-ion battery pack, the I-PACE delivers an estimated range of 240 miles. Owners will be able to achieve a 0-80 percent battery charge in around 40 minutes using publicly available 100kW DC rapid charging facilities. Home charging with a 230V/32A AC wall box (7kW) will achieve the same state of charge (0-80 percent) in just over ten hours – ideal for overnight charging.

A suite of smart range-optimising technologies includes a battery pre-conditioning system which allows the vehicle to warm or cool its battery, and cabin, to an optimal temperature while plugged in to power. By allowing the vehicle to do this while still connected to power, the system reduces the need for the vehicle to tap into its driving range to reach optimal operating temperature.

Two Jaguar-designed concentric electric motors – which feature driveshafts passing through the motors themselves for compactness – are placed at each axle, producing exceptional performance and all-wheel drive, multi-surface traction. The high torque density and high-energy efficiency characteristics of the motors combine to deliver sports car performance, launching the I-PACE from a standing start to 60mph in 4.5 seconds. This instantaneous performance is matched with exceptional ride comfort and engaging driving dynamics Jaguar customers have come to expect.

The aluminium architecture uses advanced riveting and bonding technology to deliver a light, stiff body structure. Together with the structural battery pack, it has a torsional rigidity of 36kNm/degree – the highest of any current Jaguar vehicle. The battery is placed centrally between the two axles, and as low as possible with a seal between the housing and the underfloor. This location enables a 50:50 weight distribution and a low center of gravity. Together with the advanced double wishbone front and an Integral Link rear suspension with standard Active Air Suspension and optional configurable Adaptive Dynamics, this packaging delivers agile handling and outstanding ride comfort.

The Jaguar I-PACE is designed and engineered to take full advantage of its smart electric powertrain, maximizing the potential of packaging benefits EVs inherently bring. Its sleek, coupe-like silhouette was influenced by the Jaguar C-X75 supercar concept; drawing inspiration for its short, low hood, aero-enhanced roof design and curved rear window from the concept. This cab-forward design contrasts with its squared-off rear, helping reduce the coefficient of drag to just 0.29Cd. To optimise the balance between cooling and aerodynamics, the I-PACE relies on Active Vanes in the grille which open when cooling is required and close when not needed; redirecting air through the integral hood scoop, further smoothing airflow around the vehicle.

Inside, customers will experience a spacious cabin highlighted by the Jaguar brand's exquisite attention to detail and sophisticated materials – including the option of a premium textile Kvadrat interior. Although classed as a mid-sized SUV by its physical footprint, the cab forward design and packaging of the EV powertrain mean the I-PACE offers interior space comparable to a larger vehicle. The I-PACE affords a rear legroom space of 35.0-in (890mm) and a useful 0.43- cu. ft. (12.3-liter) central storage compartment in a space that would ordinarily be occupied by a transmission tunnel in a conventional internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicle. Also in the rear, tablet and laptop storage can be found beneath the seats; while the rear luggage compartment behind those seats offers a 25.3 cu. ft. capacity, a generous 51.0 cu. ft. is available with the second row seats folded flat.

The Jaguar I-PACE introduces the Jaguar InControl® Touch Pro Duo™ infotainment system to Jaguar. First debuting on the Range Rover Velar and later on the 2018 Range Rover and Range Rover Sport, Touch

Pro Duo relies on a pair of innovative touchscreens which work in conjunction with capacitive sensors and tactile physical controls, to make the new system intuitive to use. A new EV navigation system built into Touch Pro Duo calculates personalised range and charging status to assist with driver confidence. To gather this data, the Touch Pro Duo system analyzes the topography of the selected route to the destination and aggregates that information with insights from previous journeys, including individual driving styles.

The advanced system uses 'Smart Settings' technology – driven by Artificial Intelligence (AI) algorithms – to identify individual driver preferences, and then tailors the vehicle's driving and interior settings accordingly.

To ensure customers always have access to the latest infotainment, telematics and battery energy control software, the I-PACE will also be the first Jaguar to provide Software-Over-The-Air (SOTA) updates.

MasterChef Australia S10 Winner
Sashi Cheliah shares his show experience and his new career path with MUHIBAH.

Congratulations on creating history as the first winner of MasterChef Australia to score the highest points in the competition. You joked about how you're "old story" in Australia now since the win was in July 2018 and you were announced winner in December. Would it be fair to say that your story is just starting now?

You're right. The journey has just started. I've done a fair bit of events and shows, trying to work a lot more with the industry and focusing on food now.

How have your former Singapore Police Force colleagues reacted to your win and being a chef now?

I keep in contact with a couple of mates in the police force. Once in awhile, they will joke about 'Why not you come over and cook for us?', but I haven't gotten the chance to cook for any one of them yet. But they were surprised (with the win). Not many people knew that I was able to cook, mainly because when we were in the police force, we don't have time to cook.

It's a vast career switch, so yeah, it was a shock for them. But for the prison guys (in Adelaide), they knew I cooked a fair bit at home. I would share food with them on every Friday when we used to have breakfast in the morning with my colleagues, especially in my office.

A DREAM
UNLOCKED

When I put in the application for MasterChef, my partner was very upset because he was going to lose a man. If I win, it's going to be worse, because I'm not going to come back to work anymore. So this is hard for them.

You were never a reality TV fan and it was through your wife's encouragement that you signed up for the show. What lessons have you drawn from the experience? And does the experience change the way you move forward with both your life and also cooking?

Before the competition, I didn't understand how people get inspired by reality TV. After I joined the competition and started being active on social media, I realised people get a lot of inspiration from these kind of reality TV shows. They feel very connected with the people; they feel you are a part of them. So that is something that I learned, or I understood.

The show taught me about choices. Going into the competition, I liked to memorise a few recipes. So when the judges throw in a task, or for example, a hero ingredient, we try to work around what we know. So my cinnamon ice cream with stewed apple – that's actually a protein dish. So I knew the cinnamon and the apple was there and it can be utilised with a dessert option. (The competition) teaches you to think on your feet. We have to make changes quickly, and the one thing I learned is also the choices you make makes a lot of difference in your life. If you make one choice, make sure you stick with the choice and do the best with whatever choices you make. Don't change in between 101 time – you're going to mess up the whole thing.

After your win, you candidly spoke about how such a high profile show as the MasterChef, the fame that comes with it, and pursuing work as a full-time chef is a bit daunting to you. What did you mean by that?

I think the title "MasterChef" and when people call me the "King of Flavour", it is very daunting. The expectations are very high, so I need to justify it. I'm very careful with all my food nowadays, whenever I produce, or whenever I design something, I make sure I do it justice for whatever event I'm doing.

You spoke passionately about working with the formerly incarcerated as a way of giving back to the community. Tell us how that plan is unfolding.

Definitely, that plan would be in my restaurant, but it will not happen immediately. First, I need to set up my restaurant, get my crew stabilised. Once that is ready, then I will work with some Australian prison department, corrections, depends on how many staff they are willing to give me at one time. Based on that, I will start training. If things go well, if I get the right passionate people to work, I might give them full time employment, or whatever comes by. And they have got amazing courses available in corrections. They have courses on food handling, food safety, food hygiene. All related to kitchen. So I know there are potential people who can really be of use in the kitchen environment. I would love to work with them.

You grew up in Singapore and obviously Malaysian food is predominant as well for you because you featured Malaysian food elements in some of your dishes. What is it about Singapore's and Malaysia's food that seem to give added nuance to the dishes you have plated and impressed the judges?

I think the flavours – we have robust, rich and very bold flavours. Nothing is subtle in our dishes, so that is something that the judges really loved, enjoyed. They like something that is punchy that just tickles their tastebuds. They are very well-versed with our food. They know exactly what and how the food tastes like. They travel around a fair bit. They understand a lot about our cuisine, or pretty much any cuisine, so they are very knowledgeable.

With Taste of Australia in Brunei, have you found any favourites and what can you say about Singapore-Malaysia-Brunei food – similarities or otherwise?

A lot of similarities. I've gone to a local market and restaurant here to try some food. Very similar. That you have your nasi lemak here, your mee soto, ayam soto, everything, it's very similar. I don't see any difference when I go to Malaysia, Singapore or Brunei. The only difference is everything's halal, because you can get a lot of non-halal food in Singapore and Malaysia. But saying that, this morning I went to a dim sum place – totally halal but it was great. It tastes quite similar. It's not authentic, but it's similar.

What is waiting for you back in Australia?

Family. I haven't seen them for more than two weeks. So I miss them. I travel a fair bit nowadays. But the good thing about that is that I'm able to experiment, understand new cultures, new food. Sadly, I don't spend much time at home, but I've got a very supportive family. My wife and the kids are very supportive. They know that I'm travelling for work and that I'm doing this for our future. 🌟

Created by Spanish studio Bel & Bel, the Scooter Chair uses original parts from the Italian vehicle to form a striking silhouette. The 1980s-style chassis has been cleverly upcycled as the seat back, with its unusual shape paying homage to the Vespa's iconic design.

PEEP SHOW

The Récital 26 Brainstorm Chapter One by Bovet is an all-transparent, sapphire, inclined case – a bold and complex technical feat given the asymmetric profile of the middle, which forms a single element with the crystal. The movement is regulated by a double-face flying tourbillon with a variable inertia balance that draws its energy from a single barrel which provides a power reserve of 10 days. Manual rewinding is made easier by a differential winding system that halves the number of turns of the crown required.

HAND LUGGAGE

For your safety and comfort, you may store your hand luggage in the overhead lockers or under the seat in front of you. Please do not hesitate to ask our cabin crew for help in stowing your luggage properly. Be careful when opening the overhead luggage compartments, as items dislodged by aircraft movement may fall on you or fellow guests.

LIQUIDS, AEROSOLS AND GELS (LAG)

Various countries have implemented restrictions on the carriage of liquids, aerosols and gels in compliance with new guidelines set by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). Guests transiting through airports and carrying any liquids, pastes and gels in containers over 100ml may be asked to dispose of the items at security checkpoints.

These restrictions may affect your ability to carry duty-free purchases on board the aircraft. Customers are advised to check with duty free personnel before making their purchases. All liquids, aerosols and gels must be carried in containers of no greater than 100ml/3.3oz capacity (approximately 100gm in weight) and placed in a transparent, resealable plastic bag. The plastic bag must be removed from the carry-on baggage and presented to security personnel at the checkpoint for inspection and separate x-ray screening.

Exceptions to the new regulations are medicines and dietary supplements needed during a flight, including baby food. Proof of need may be required.

USE OF ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT

Electronic devices such as Citizen's band (CB) radio, remote-controlled devices (such as radio controlled toys), and transmitting devices that emit radio frequencies are not to be used at any time during the flight. These devices may interfere with the aircraft's electronic equipment, compromising aircraft safety and endangering the lives of guests and crew.

The following devices may be used on board, except during take-off, initial climb, approach and landing: mobile phones (which must be switched to flight mode), personal computers, FM receivers, calculators, electronic shavers, audio and video recorders, hand-held computer games, and playback devices.

LITHIUM BATTERIES

The abundant stored energy that makes lithium batteries practical also makes them dangerous when they are not packed and carried properly. RB follows the recommendations from ICAO and IATA Dangerous Goods Regulations in our efforts to mitigate these risks of the hazards.

Low and medium powered rechargeable batteries in equipment and limited quantity of spares are recommended as carry-on baggage. All spare units must be in the original packaging or have the exposed terminals taped over. Medium and large non-rechargeable must be carried as cargo/freight in accordance with current Dangerous Goods Regulations. High-Powered batteries are not permitted on board passenger aircraft.

Information of safe carriage of lithium batteries on board RB flights is also available at www.flyroyalbrunei.com.

PORTABLE CHARGERS OR POWER BANKS

In line with safety regulations on the carriage of lithium batteries, the following policy applies on the carriage and use of portable chargers or power banks on all RB flights:

In cabin baggage (carry-on)

RB allows for the carriage of portable chargers or power banks in carry-on baggage under the following guidelines:

- device cannot be charged or used in flight at any time
- device is switched off and placed in a sealed bag prior to the flight

WELCOME ONBOARD

- device with lithium ion batteries and a watt-hour rating that does not exceed 100Wh is permitted up to a maximum of four batteries per person
- device with lithium ion batteries and a watt-hour that exceeds 160Wh is permitted with prior-approval from airline, up to a maximum of two batteries per person.

For checked baggage

Portable chargers or power banks are strictly prohibited in checked baggage for all RB flights.

Brunei is arguably best known today as an oil producing country. The nation became independent in 1984 and, thanks to its large reserves of oil and gas, now has one of the highest standards of living in the world. Its population of just over 408,000 is made up of two-thirds ethnic Malay, with the remainder being Chinese, Indian and other indigenous groups. The Sultanate has four districts: Brunei-Muara (which includes the capital Bandar Seri Begawan), Temburong, Tutong and Belait. 'Darussalam', the Arabic word for 'Abode of Peace' describes Brunei's Islamic history that dates back some 1,500 years. Today, Brunei remains the world's only Malay Islamic Monarchy with an unbroken royal lineage that has ruled the nation for the past 600 years.

CAPITAL ATTRACTIONS

Small in size but big in attractions, Brunei's capital has lots to offer.

Brunei-Muara

1 THE OMAR ALI SAIFUDDIEN MOSQUE

Brunei Darussalam's iconic landmark, the mosque was completed in 1958 and is named after the 28th Sultan, the late Sultan Omar Ali Saifuddin, who is referred to as the Architect of Modern Brunei.

2 ISTANA NURUL IMAN

3 LAPAU AND DEWAN MAJLIS

The Royal Ceremonial Hall features an exquisite golden dome and hosts all of the Sultanate's traditional royal ceremonies.

CARI MORA

Thomas Harris

From the creator of Hannibal Lecter and The Silence of the Lambs comes a story of evil, greed and the consequences of dark obsession. Twenty-five million dollars in cartel gold lies hidden beneath a mansion on the Miami Beach waterfront. Ruthless men have tracked it for years. Leading the pack is Hans-Peter Schneider. Driven by unspeakable appetites, he makes a living fleshing out the violent fantasies of other, richer men. Cari Mora, caretaker of the house, has escaped from the violence in her native country. She stays in Miami on a wobbly Temporary Protected Status, subject to the iron whim of ICE. She works at many jobs to survive. Beautiful, marked by war, Cari catches the eye of Hans-Peter as he closes in on the treasure. But Cari Mora has surprising skills, and her will to survive has been tested before. Monsters lurk in the crevices between male desire and female survival. No other writer in the last century has conjured those monsters with more terrifying brilliance than Thomas Harris.

TO UNPLUG AND UNWIND.

FURIOUS HOURS

Casey Cep

Reverend Willie Maxwell was a rural preacher accused of murdering five of his family members for insurance money in the 1970s. With the help of a savvy lawyer, he escaped justice for years until a relative shot him dead at the funeral of his last victim. Despite hundreds of witnesses, Maxwell's murderer was acquitted – thanks to the same attorney who had previously defended the Reverend. As Alabama is consumed by these gripping events, it's not long until news of the case reaches Alabama's – and America's – most famous writer. Intrigued by the story, Harper Lee makes a journey back to her home state to witness the Reverend's killer face trial. This is the story Lee started work on but could never finish it. Now Casey Cep brings this story to life, from the shocking murders to the courtroom drama to the racial politics of the Deep South. At the same time, she offers a deeply moving portrait of one of the country's most beloved writers and her struggle with fame, success, and the mystery of artistic creativity.

UNDERLAND

Robert Macfarlane

"The way into the underworld is through the riven trunk of an old ash tree" starts Macfarlane's extraordinary adventure into the worlds beneath our feet. From the invisible city underneath the pavements of Paris, to the laboratory half a mile below the Yorkshire Moors seeking the universe's hidden secrets, there is so much to explore, celebrate and learn from each labyrinth. Macfarlane traces a voyage through the worlds beneath our feet. He reaches back into the deep history of the planet, through the layers of rock and ancient buried objects, and forward to the future, the legacy of the anthropocene and the world we bequeath our descendants. Underland is Macfarlane at his dazzling best – the lyrical, the political and the philosophical come together in this profound exploration of the relationship between landscape and the human heart.

ANXIOUS KIDS: HOW CHILDREN CAN TURN THEIR ANXIETY INTO RESILIENCE

Michael Grose, Jodi Richardson

It's easy to feel overwhelmed when your child suffers from anxiety, but there are many things you can do to help. Anxious Kids offers parents a new perspective on their children's anxiety, encouraging them to view each episode as an opportunity to empower their kids with the skills to manage anxiety, and thrive. Bestselling parenting author Michael Grose and wellbeing expert Dr Jodi Richardson explain why more children than ever before experience anxiety. In plain language that can be shared with children, they outline the origins and biology of anxiety to make sense of it – key knowledge such as why it happens, the flood of physical symptoms that comes with it, how to calm it down and why each strategy works.
